South Bay Regional Public Communications Authority

They put out a call for a new bank

For 30 years, the South Bay Regional Public Communications Authority (SBRPCA) has provided prompt, efficient, courteous and cost-effective 911 Emergency Communications services to the greater South Bay area. With state-of-the-art equipment, the SBRPCA processes approximately 250,000 incidents a year for residents in their member cities of Gardena, Hawthorne and Manhattan Beach, and their contract city of Hermosa Beach.

When SBRPCA Executive Director Ralph Mailloux set out to find a local bank that would provide them with the same prompt, efficient, courteous and cost-effective service as they provide, using the latest banking technology, Beach Business Bank was up to the task. Bank President Bob Franko, Senior Vice President Melissa Rickabaugh, and Vice President Gabriele Zirpola, developed a package that would meet the SBRPCA's needs. The Bank's plan included regular courier service for deposits and lower fees that would best address the SBRPCA's financial goals. Most importantly, Gabriele assured Ralph of her personal commitment to their banking needs.

"Prior to working at the SBRPCA, I had heard about Gabriele" said Ralph. "She understands the needs of a municipal agency. On top of that, she must be one of the most pleasant bankers in the world. I am really thrilled to have Gabriele as our banker and Beach Business Bank handling the SBRPCA's account."

Beach Business Bank offers a full range of services, the latest in technology, and personal attention to business customers' needs.
